Personally we find this the best service on present and also you can certainly sometimes find a real bargain. Usually you have to pre-book/pay for this particular service using the company of choice and inform them when you're coming and when you'll be picking your car up again. Costs vary as they are privately owned businesses and not part of the airport itself, you might have to shop around a little first however these are definitely less than airports. These companies will park your car for you in their secure lot (similar to an airport valet) and take you (usually on a mini bus) towards the airport terminal where you're due to depart. In your return they will come and pick you up from arrivals and have your car ready for you to get in and go.
